High Fees.

There was no little surprise expressed by many persons at the fees charged by the physicians who attended President Garfield. But from Gillard's Medical Journal we learn, "of English doctors, Radcliffe made over $35,000 a year in the height of his fame: Mead. $25,000; Baillie, $45,000; Sir. H. Halford, $55,000; and Sir B. Brodie $85,-000 in the year but one before his retirement, was the largest income known. Radeliffe once received $8,000 as special fee for visiting Lord Albemarie at Namure; Granville $5,000 and his traveling expenses for a visit to St. Petersburg; and recently Sir W. Gull received $5,000 each for two visits to Pau, and 87,000 for traveling to Perthshire and remaining a week with a patient. But the fee of fees was that received by Dr. Dinesdale in 1768, for inoculation the Empress Catherine and her son at St. Petersburg, viz., $60,000 paid down, a pension of $2,500 for life, and the dignity of a baron."
